DRAINAGE USED FOR

IRRIGATION WATER

Salt Lake, May 6.—R. A. Hart, supervising drainage engineer for the United States department of agriculture, returned yesterday from an inspection of the drainage projects now under way in Davis county. Mr. Hart says that excellent results from drainage operations are being obtained on the farm of W. E. Bassett at Clearfield. Mr. Bassett, with the aid of Mr. Hart, has arranged to use all the drained water for irrigation purposes and the experiment has proceeded so well that he has enough water from drainage stored in a reservoir to irrigate all his land.

The farmers of Davis county are watching the experiment with much interest, according to Mr. Hart, and others are expected to install similar contrivances.

INSPECTOR VISITS THE LIVERY STABLES OF THE CITY

State Sanitary Inspector Frank Emery was in Ogden yesterday for the purpose of making an inspection at the local livery stables and the new addition that is being built to the plant of the Ogden Packing company. He made the trip around town with City Sanitary Inspector George Shorten.

At the packing plant, Mr. Shorten stated this morning, they found conditions to be highly satisfactory. Numerous large fly traps being set and all other necessary precautions being taken to prevent contamination of the company's product.

At several of the livery stables, the inspectors found that the notice to keep manure in covered receptacles, had not been obeyed, though some of the proprietors are having the receptacles made. The owners were given notice to have the work done as soon as possible, so as to minimize the danger of breeding myriads of flies.

Inspector Shorten also said today that the health office will begin the swearing out of complaints against property owners in the sewer districts who have not connected their residences with the sewer.

COL. LOCKETT ISSUES ORDER

All Persons in Colorado Strike District Must Surrender Fire Arms by Tomorrow.

TROOPS DISTRIBUTED
Commanding Officer Considers Situation Extremely Grave—Reports to Garrison.

Trinidad, Colo., May 8.—All persons in the strike district of the southern Colorado coal fields, under a military proclamation issued today, must surrender firearms by tomorrow. All classes of firearms by whomsoever possessed must be given up.

Federal troops have been distributed throughout the strike region for the purpose of receiving the weapons and ammunition.

The proclamation follows: "Whereas, under existing circumstances, the possession of arms and ammunition by persons not in the military service of the United States tends to provoke disorder and to incite domestic violence and hinders the restoration of normal conditions of peace and good order; I, Colonel James Lockett, do by the authority of the president of the United States, call upon and direct all persons, not in the military service of the United States, who have arms or ammunition in their possession or under their control to deliver them forthwith to the officer at the place herein designated."

The time and place for the surrender of arms are then set forth. Three hundred condemned army rifles and 200 rounds of ammunition for each weapon, consigned to the United Mine Workers of America's agent at Raton, N. M., from New York, were taken over by the officers.

Situation Extremely Grave. Colonel Lockett commanding the eleventh United States cavalry said he considered the situation in other fields, especially at Glenwood Springs, Oak Creek and Crested Butte, extremely grave. He recommended that Governor Ammons despatch additional national guardsmen to those sections. The federal troops cannot be spared for that duty there until the forces have been strengthened by at least 300 men, Colonel Lockett reported.

Colonel Lockett said he had reported the situation to Secretary Garrison and was awaiting further advice from the war department.

Colonel Lockett informed union leaders that he had referred the question of the rehabilitation of the Ludlow tent colony to President Wilson with recommendations, and that they would have to make further negotiations in that regard to the president himself.

He said that he considered it too

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ENTERTAIN THEIR FRIENDS

Ogden lodge No. 2, Knights of Pythias had its formal opening and house-warming in the new Castle hall on Grant avenue last evening and two hundred eleven local Knights and their gentlemen friends assembled in the lodge room at 8:30 o'clock to hear Judge J. A. Howell deliver a scholarly and interesting address on "Pythianism."

The judge told in a most impressive manner the story of Daman and Pythias and how Justus H. Rathbone, the founder of the order of Knights of Pythias, conceived the idea and formulated the plans of founding a fraternal organization based upon the friendship embodied in that beautiful Grecian story.

He told of the founding of the order in Washington, D. C., February 19, 1864, and how it has grown to be one of the great fraternal organizations of this country, with a membership of nearly a million.

The judge also told in an eloquent manner of the good that had been accomplished by the Knights of Pythias lodges throughout the country and explained how the pagan conception of friendship had been combined in the organization with the Christian ideals of charity and benevolence.

At the close of the address by Judge Howell the presiding officer, A. E. Pratt invited those present to the dining room where refreshments were served.

After leaving the dining room the members and their friends spent the remainder of the evening in the club-rooms playing cards, pool or billiards. Many of the visitors expressed agreeable surprise at the beautiful furnishings and the many conveniences of the new hall.

This evening the Knights will give their annual dance and, as this is the first one to be given in the new hall, the committee that has the matter in charge is endeavoring to make this one of the greatest social events of the season. The dance will be an invitation affair and a large number of Knights prominent in the order in Salt Lake City and other towns will be present.

BUILDINGS IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION IN THE CITY

Judge A. R. Heywood is building a garage on Washington avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets, that will cost in the neighborhood of $5000. The judge says he has faith in Ogden and he does not hesitate to make investments when an opportunity is afforded. He has other building in view.

The McGregor Brothers, who are quite extensive builders in the city, have begun the erection of three residences to cost in the neighborhood of $1500 each. The new homes are being built on Washington avenue, between Patterson avenue and Thirty-first street.

On Capital avenue, between Quincy and Jackson avenues, E. H. Anderson is building a residence that will cost something over $1500.

Building Inspector Thomas Davis states that, while there are not so many permits for business places being taken out at this time as a year ago, the residence building is unabated and that more permits are being taken out now than last year.

In figuring valuations in building, he says, it must be taken into consideration that there is not so much money expended in individual residences as in business blocks but that the growth and advancement of the city is better indicated. Building permits in April last year were 32. This year, in the same month, they were 36.

Speaking of the matter Mr. Davis has this to say:

"It will be noted that April, 1914, had more permits, but that the aggregate cost is less, thus showing that the residence section is holding up. There were no permits to speak of issued in the business section this year for the month of April."

The estimated cost of building in the city this April was $54,550, while in the same month last year it was $91,350.50. The building of the cereal plant and the can factory in connection with other proposed structures, such as the Alhambra theatre, and the De-Eccles structure on Twenty-fourth street, will greatly swell the building figures in Ogden this year.

FUNERAL SHIP IS NEARING NEW YORK

Washington, May 8.—The armored cruiser Montana, bearing the bodies of the seventeen sailors and marines killed during the occupation of Vera Cruz, is due to arrive in New York harbor Sunday afternoon. Memorial services at which President Wilson will voice the tribute of the nation will begin at the New York navy yard at 11 o'clock Monday morning. Chaplain William G. Cassard of Annapolis will deliver the invocation. The president then will deliver his address. Prayer by Rabbi Wise of New York will follow and the benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Father John P. Chadwick, who was chaplain of the battleship Maine when she was blown up in Havana harbor. The program also calls for music by the Marine band, and either a rifle or artillery salute.

The bodies will be landed at the Battery Sunday afternoon, where they will be placed on caissons and lie in state until Monday morning.
